Matt Lawrence is the Environmental Project Manager at M.L. Chartier Excavating, overseeing environmental projects across the state of Michigan. He manages field operations with a focus on safety, highest standard practices, and efficient execution, frequently supporting projects that require precision hydro excavation services.

With more than 20 years of experience in the excavation industry, Matt began his career working in his family's business, where he developed a strong foundation in operations and jobsite best practices. He joined M.L. Chartier in 2019 as a Hydro Excavation Operator and advanced into a management role by 2021, earning recognition for his leadership and technical expertise. Matt currently serves on the Board of the Environmental Management Association, reflecting his ongoing commitment to professional excellence and industry advancement.
